DFILE		Myer engages with civil society, customers, employees, local communities, shareholders and suppliers. Channels include social media, media engagement and briefings, investor briefings, one-on-one meetings, our Customer Service Centre, and customer feedback programs. The basis for identification of which groups to engage with is both reactive, and proactive where we know that better understanding and communication will address needs and issues. This year engagement was not specifically undertaken for this report however the results of engagement that occurred both during the year and in prior years were used to inform the report content. One concern raised was the lack of information on appliance energy ratings online, which was addressed by including this alongside other online product information in our digital platforms.
